Commissioner's Corner

The Commission passed a Resolution (15-14) concerning the Public Land Initiative. This document can be viewed online at the Daggett County website.

www.daggettcounty.org/15-14

At this time we do not think it will be a part of Congressman Bishop's Bill, but we have sent it to him with hopes that it may make it in. The Commission is proud of the job the Public Lands Advisory Committee did on this issue. We also feel that the collaborative effort the Resolution outlines for management of our Public Lands is monumental.

Fireworks will take place in Dutch John on the 4th of July, which falls on a Saturday. So mark your calendars to attend.

Commissioner Perry and her husband Boyd attended the Public Assembly to welcome the American Hero's boat "Hope" and thought it was a wonderful and moving event. The turnout was excellent for an event that happened in the middle of the day. We welcome the American Hero's and Hand in Hand Outdoors to our community. They will be a wonderful new addition.

We have been the recipients of a very wet spring (3.86" of rain in Manila in MAY!), making everything beautiful and GREEN! We are grateful for this moisture! With a lot of rain comes standing water which breeds mosquito's, etc. Let's watch for standing water around our individual homes and property's and perhaps that will lessen this outcome. And on the subject of mosquito's...if you have a mosquito problem, please contact Brian Raymond at the county at 435-784 3218, Ext 134.

Memorial Weekend was busy even given the rain and hail. Our summer season has commenced and we wish you all a SAFE and HAPPY SUMMER season filled with family, friends and fun!

Utah's mosquito season will be bad: here's how to protect yourself

KSL - By Tracie Snowden and Haley Smith

SALT LAKE CITY -Lots of rain combined with warm temps are creating the perfect breeding grounds for mosquitoes — and Utah's in for a bad season. Mosquito abatement teams are urging Utahns to take one very important step to help lower the number of mosquitoes this season — and officials say it is going to be the highest we've seen in years. All the much-needed rain created the perfect breeding grounds for mosquito populations in the area. These little bugs are resilient — a mosquito egg can last more than 10 years in dirt with lots of moisture.

Why you should be concerned about mosquito season

Mosquitos are more than just an annoyance during the early morning and late evening hours. There are more than 3,000 mosquito species in the world but only 176 known mosquito species around the country, according to mosquito.org. Each of these can be harmful to animals and people, says mosquitomagnet.com.

Mosquitos can carry diseases like the West Nile virus, malaria and encephalitis. A new virus cropped up for the first time in the U.S. in 2014, called chikungunya, which can cause painful symptoms like muscle pain, headache, nausea and fever, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Over 1,000 Americans get a serious illness or die each year from a mosquito bite.

Mosquito season in Utah already under way

Some mosquito species hibernate during the winter and they start to come out as soon as it reaches 50 degrees Fahrenheit. With rain flooding the grounds around Utah, more dormant eggs will likely hatch soon, officials say.

On top of that, mosquitoes are laying lots of new eggs in the water. Abatement teams in Utah are doing all they can to kill the mosquitoes in large breeding ground areas.

"We are starting to see the mosquitoes that actually carry the virus lay their eggs, and I'm thinking within a week to two weeks they will be out," said field manager Jason Hardman, Salt Lake City Abatement.

The CDC says community members can help the abatement team by reporting dead birds to local authorities, as dead birds might be a sign of the virus. Utahns can call the state's Department of Health at 1-888-EPI-UTAH (374-8824) to report a possible disease.

Protect yourself: Drain, dress, defend

Officials are asking Utahns to take precautionary measures to keep mosquitoes from breeding near their homes. PHOTO CREDIT: BLUERINGMEDIA/

Don't wait until you are bitten to prevent mosquitos. Start now by draining water-filled containers on your property. Mosquito.org recommends disposing of tires, clearing roof gutters of debris, cleaning pet water dishes regularly, emptying children's toys if they have water and changing bird bath water at least once a week.

Canoes and other boats should be turned over. Mosquito.org reports that even the smallest puddle of water can breed hundreds to thousands of mosquitoes.

If you're going to be outside, wear light-colored loose clothing. The species of mosquitoes around the U.S. are attracted to dark clothing, according to studies. If at all possible, wear long sleeves and pants.

The CDC recommends using a mosquito repellent that has been approved by the Environmental Protection Agency. There are currently four approved repellents that the EPA recommends:

DEET Picaridin Oil of lemon eucalyptus R3535

The CDC says to apply repellent only to exposed areas of skin and to keep it away from eyes, mouth and apply sparingly to ears.

Most mosquitoes lay their eggs on top of water as the temperature rises and it can take as little as five days for the eggs to hatch. Officials expect there to be a big boom of mosquitoes this weekend.

For more information on prevention, visit mosquito.org and CDC.gov.

Mother's Day: Inspiration for Father's Day

Mother's Day did not become a commercial holiday until 1908, when-inspired by Jarvis's daughter Anna, who wanted to honor her own mother by making Mother's Day a national holiday-the John Wanamaker department store in Philadelphia sponsored a service dedicated to mothers in its auditorium. Thanks in large part to this association with retailers, who saw great potential for profit in the holiday, Mother's Day caught on right away. In 1909, 45 states observed the day, and in 1914, President Woodrow Wilson approved a resolution that made the second Sunday in May a holiday in honor of "that tender, gentle army, the mothers of America."

Origins of Father's Day

The campaign to celebrate the nation's fathers did not meet with the same enthusiasm-perhaps because, as one florist explained, "fathers haven't the same sentimental appeal that mothers have." On July 5, 1908, a West Virginia church sponsored the nation's first event explicitly in honor of fathers, a Sunday sermon in memory of the 362 men who had died in the previous December's explosions at the Fairmont Coal Company mines in Monongah, but it was a one-time commemoration and not an annual holiday. The next year, a Spokane, Washington woman named Sonora Smart Dodd, one of six children raised by a widower, tried to establish an official equivalent to Mother's Day for male parents. She went to local churches, the YMCA, shopkeepers and government officials to drum up support for her idea, and she was successful: Washington State celebrated the nation's first statewide Father's Day on July 19, 1910. Slowly, the holiday spread. In 1916, President Wilson honored the day by using telegraph signals to unfurl a flag in Spokane when he pressed a button in Washington, D.C. In 1924, President Calvin Coolidge urged state governments to observe Father's Day. However, many men continued to disdain the day. As one historian writes, they "scoffed at the holiday's sentimental attempts to domesticate manliness with flowers and gift-giving, or they derided the proliferation of such holidays as a commercial gimmick to sell more products-often paid for by the father himself."

Controversy and Commercialism

During the 1920s and 1930s, a movement arose to scrap Mother's Day and Father's Day altogether in favor of a single holiday, Parents' Day. Every year on Mother's Day, pro-Parents' Day groups rallied in New York City's Central Park-a public reminder, said Parents' Day activist and radio performer Robert Spere, "that both parents should be loved and respected together." Paradoxically, however, the Depression derailed this effort to combine and de-commercialize the holidays. Struggling retailers and advertisers redoubled their efforts to make Father's Day a "second Christmas" for men, promoting goods such as neckties, hats, socks, pipes and tobacco, golf clubs and other sporting goods, and greeting cards. When World War II began, advertisers began to argue that celebrating Father's Day was a way to honor American troops and support the war effort. By the end of the war, Father's Day may not have been a federal holiday, but it was a national institution.

In 1972, in the middle of a hard-fought presidential re-election campaign, Richard Nixon signed a proclamation making Father's Day a federal holiday at last. Today, economists estimate that Americans spend more than $1 billion.

Many praises go to the Dutch John BOY & CUB SCOUTS, Troop 774 for a spectacular food drive!

It took many hands and good leadership to collect 423.2 pounds of food. But it did not end there! They also collected $260.00 which in turn provides Manila food pantry with an estimated $1,744.00 towards food. How that works is for every dollar donated the Utah Food Bank which is where we receive our food is able to buy almost seven times more food for the food pantries. What a wonderful thing this is for those who need the assistance. I would like to say "THANK YOU" to the following people:

New this year at Rocky Ridge Outpost...

We are adding a 24' Yurt to our accommodations this spring.

Yurts document 3000 years of history from ancient East to modern West. They originally were developed in Central Asia by the nomadic cultures used as dwellings. A traditional yurt (Turkic) or ger (Mongolian) is a sturdy, portable, round tent covered with skins or felt. The structure comprises a latticework of pieces of wood for walls, a door frame, poles, rafters and a crown ring. The roof structure is self supporting. The top of the wall of self supporting yurts is prevented from spreading by means of a tension band which opposes the force of the roof. Modern yurts are usually permanently built on a wooden platform and use modern materials.

Our yurt will have a queen bed and two, twin-over-queen bunk beds, microwave, small fridge, satellite TV, and WiFi. Outside our guests will enjoy their own deck and fire pit. Rest rooms and Showers are located a short distance away. Glamping, or glamour camping, has become very popular in Utah, and with our deluxe yurt, tipi and cabins it can be enjoyed right here at Flaming Gorge.

"The Greenhouse Effect" by Joe Peplow

When I first heard that the jail was to receive funding to build a greenhouse, I was excited! It meant more than just another way to make a buck. It was an opportunity to gain carpentry knowledge as well as learning how to plant and grow vegetables during the winter season.

Day One of the build was exciting! It was my first day of work outside as a 5-A worker ("5-A" is a level that inmates acquire through trust and fulfillment of responsibility. Only inmates with a 5-A are eligible to work outside). Not only did I want to assist in this project, and show the jail deputies that I'm a hard worker, but I really wanted the greenhouse to come out looking like a greenhouse. With the help of a few inmates, and miles of tape measuring, it looks like a greenhouse.

We've had some obstacles along the way. The start of this build was placed right next to a dirt walk, which was higher than the greenhouse by about eight feet. We were worried that the dirt hill, after some bad weather, would come down on our greenhouse. With some help, we were able to taper off the hill and eliminate the hill's threat to our greenhouse.

Although the construction of the greenhouse has been slow, it has been a great learning process for me. I look forward to the completion of our greenhouse project; for this project, the end is only the beginning of a whole new project as it brings with it the possibility to further our knowledge of building a greenhouse and growing vegetables in the months to come.

Recycling in Daggett County

At the request of Tri County Health Department Daggett County's recycling program in Manila was discontinued in late March. We have been getting lots of inquiries regarding restarting the program, but have no location to store or sort the recyclable materials received. If you have a large barn, garage or other storage area that you would like to donate for the next 3 or 4 months we would be interested in speaking with you. The County is working on grants to build a new building, but even if the applications are successful we are three to four months away from building a new recycling facility. If you feel the recycling program is beneficial we would encourage you to make a tax deductible donation to the Community Foundation of Utah (423 West 800 South - Suite #A101; Salt Lake City, UT 84101) on behalf of the Flaming Gorge Country Community Foundation to show support for this program and enable us to find additional matching funds.

There are several locations where you can continue recycling while we are working to find a new location: Green River (WY) Public Works Recycling at 325 E. Teton Ave is open 24/7. Another good location is in Park City at Recycle Utah, which is located at 1951 Woodbine Way and is open Monday through Friday 8-5:30 and Saturdays from 10 -4.
